GRAND CRU CLASSÉ

SAINT-EMILION

2023

Grand Corbin has a quite unique soil of silica on blue clay, with very different terroir identities. Since 2022, the team has been refining its understanding of this terroir to capture its identity and make wines that are ever more faithful to their origin. Axel Marchal, who has been consulting for the estate for two years, explains, "a fine wine should be a faithful reflection of a place. Our work at Grand Corbin consists in increasing precision to respect the soil types and best express the identities of this great terroir, anchored in its appellation."

This new approach has produced a flavourful 2023 vintage, bursting with fruit. The harvest took place over an extended period — from 14 September to 6 October — in excellent conditions. Each grape variety could be picked at optimum ripeness and in perfect health. The delicate textures, smoothness and mellowness of this vintage are the result of a precise approach to winemaking.
